Police at Midcity University are investigating the theft of four computers and monitors from a school lab.

Police suspect the crime happened last night. They found locks broken at M-U’s Computer Instructional Lab and computer equipment missing that’s valued at nearly 11-thousand-dollars.

If there is any good news…it’s that 14 other computers were not stolen in that lab.

So far police say there are no leads in the case…