Stand Up Open

Hi I’m Patrick Harwood for C-of-C

Super: Patrick Harwood/

Scene. It was eight years ago today…

C of C Scene

September 11, 2001…that the horrific terror attacks on America took place…killing thousands. Eight years later…the War on Terror continues.

Most of the students here at the College of Charleston were 10…11…12 years old when 9-11 happened. They’ve grown up with the War on Terror. So today on this eighth anniversary…how do these young people feel about the War on Terror…are we winning? Can we win? Is America doing the right thing?

----------------------------------

POS Comments

Super: Chris Bland/Charleston

Chris Bland- Charleston   Length: :23
In:  The war started back Out:  doing the right thing

Super: Morgan Edwards/Columbia

Morgan Edwards- Columbia

Super: Robin Scott/Aiken

and Robin Scott- Aiken   Length: :26
In:  It doesn’t feel
Out:  never going to stop

Super: Taylor Chaboz/Charlotte

Taylor Chaboz—Charlotte and

Super: Joey Ingham/Maryland

Joey Ingham—MarylandLength: :31
In:  It’s definitely gone on long enough…
Out:  done what we can, so we’re done

Super: Rachel Jester/Greenville

Rachel Jester—Greenville   Length: :39 In:  I think almost that it was Out: claim a democracy

Super: Preston Garrison/Nevada
In: I support the war
Out: any other way to look at it

Stand Up Close
Early on in the War on Terror then
Super: Patrick Harwood/
President George Bush warned the country that this is a war that could last 20 years or longer. Eight years in to the war...with its outcome still so murky...Bush’s prediction could very well come true. For C of C Scene...I’m Patrick Harwood.

###